BY JASON JUMP
Editor

Local Grant County candidates for elected office addressed a standing room only crowd during a Meet the Candidates event hosted by the local Farm Bureau board.

Secretary/Treasurer of the local GCOFB board Kenny Ferda said the attendance at Medford’s Civic Center was one of the best turnouts the board has ever had. Ferda introduced each candidate, who then had five minutes to talk to the crowd. No public questions were asked during each candidates time slot, however, candidates did visit with residents who stuck around following the formal event.

The only two contested locally is for the county clerk’s office and the sheriff. The order of speakers was determined by a draw before the event started.

Adrienne Hembree, who will take over for Deana Kilian in the court clerk’s office, was also given time to introduce herself to the crowd following the county clerk and sheriff candidates.

Kilian, who originally filed to run for re-election, decided to retire instead.

Incumbent Sheriff Scott Sterling kicked off the slate of candidates. He shared details about his tenure with Grant County, which started in 1999. He has spent the last 12 years as the county’s sheriff.

Sterling pointed out his support from not only local law enforcement agencies, but also from surrounding agencies.

He also pointed out times have changed during his time with the county, and he felt like he had kept the sheriff’s department in line with changes in procedures and technology.

Sterling also promoted his ability to hit the ground running from day one with a staff in place that has more than 100 years of law enforcement experience.

Pond Creek resident Tim Irvin, who was allowed to remain on the ballot after a recent challenge by Sterling, told the crowd he was running for sheriff because he was concerned with the plague of illegal drugs within the county and that the sheriff’s department needs to have more of a presence within the rural parts of the county.

He said the sheriff and deputies need to build relationships with the county’s younger population. Irvin also wants all deputies to live within Grant County to help with call response times.

Rachelle McCaleb was the first county clerk candidate to speak.

She is originally from Enid, but married Grant County native Scott McCaleb. The couple decided to make Medford their “forever home” in 2016.

McCaleb said the office of the county clerk was not just a job, but a duty. She said her past work experience had given her the skills necessary to carry out that duty, and she also had the energy it takes to learn the position. She has 17 years of office administration experience, including time keeping, payroll, human resources, benefits, accounts payables and receivables, budgeting, transcription, training, as

City Council Decides Location of Military Park With 3-1 Vote

BY JASON JUMP
Editor

The Medford City Council settled on a location for its new military park during Monday’s meeting with a rare contested vote.

The board voted 3-1 to establish the park at the corner of S. 3rd and Highway 81.

Councilwoman Shari England cast the lone no vote. Councilman Rick Cardwell was not present.

The city purchased the piece of property more than a year ago with the intention of building the military park at that location. However, with recent developments regarding the city’s Wilson buildings in downtown Medford, discussions had taken place regarding placing the park at that location once the buildings are demolished.

City Manager Dea Mandevill said the city had been discussing the project for roughly two years, and she wanted some final direction as to the location of the park in order to get the project moving forward.

Mayor Gary Bowen said the land located at S. 3rd and Highway 81 could have a multipurpose function with the military park, as well as information regarding local attractions and businesses.

“People (will) stop there to look at it (the military park) it will also have a guide to what’s in town too,” he said.

While no one was scheduled to address the city council regarding the park’s location, the floor was

Medford to Retain Current Severe Weather Protocols

BY JASON JUMP
Editor

Despite recent concerns from local residents regarding the city of Medford’s severe weather siren policy, the city council made no changes to the policy during Monday night’s meeting.

The current policy states that Medford storm sirens will sound continuously if an actual tornado has been spotted on the ground by local law enforcement or official spotters within a five-mile radius of the city limits.

Residents voiced concerns via social media after recent severe weather events within Grant County when sirens could not be heard in Medford. Tornadoes were spotted in multiple locations in Grant County during the recent events, but none were within the five-mile radius of the city limits.

Bill Loch said it might be better to have a 10-mile radius to make it safer for local residents.

opened up to comments from the public with input on the location. Medford Police Chief Jim Shepherd said he was not in favor of either of the two locations that were proposed Monday night. “As a veteran, if we put it where the Wilson buildings are, I think the impression would be we are hiding it (the park) in a hole,” he said. “And if we are putting it on the triangle property on 3rd street, look around and see what else is there. The surrounding area is not that agreeable either. “I don’t want veterans to come in (to town) and think we’re trying to hide it (the park) in a hole. I know it’s drawing things to downtown, but I don’t like that one at all.” Carmen Schultz said the park needed to be downtown in order to draw more visitors to that area of Medford. Schultz said she was concerned with traffic slowing down on the highway to turn into a park located just off the highway. “It would be good for downtown business,” Schultz said. England said she was also concerned with the surrounding area if the park was located on the city’s property at S. 3rd and Highway 81. “There’s not many ways you can disguise it,” she said. Mandevill said landscaping can be used to enhance the park. Jeanette Loch questioned the city on what would be done with the empty lot left by the Wilson buildings. The city manager said it would be the goal of Economic Development Director Duane Thompson to fill that area. Currently the plans are to leave the side walls and the front façade, but demolish the rest of the Wilson buildings. Bowen said if the park was placed in the hole left by the Wilson buildings, it would be putting it in a “dark pit.”

Councilman Steve Zeman said he thought the park might actually take away from businesses if it was located downtown, while Councilman Guy Knigge said the park could lead to congestion downtown if that is where it was placed. Bowen, Zeman and Knigge voted to place the park on the city’s property at the corner of S. 3rd and Highway 81.

SIRENS

Sherrel Copeland said she agreed. “The older people, especially if they need to leave their house and go somewhere, (five miles) is not a long time,” she said. City Manager Dea Mandevill reminded those in attendance Monday that storm sirens are geared toward people that are outdoors. “They are not to alert people who are in their houses,” she said. “They are for people who have been out gardening and haven’t been watching the weather. “Now days we all have weather apps and get alerts well before.” Loch said not everyone has access to apps, especially older people. “Not every house can hear the storm sirens either,” Mandevill said. Medford Police Chief Jim Shepherd, who is responsible for sounding Medford’s storm sirens, reminded residents that when watching television, listening to the radio or view phone apps, weather warnings are geared toward entire counties, not necessarily specific areas within a county. Shepherd said the first round of storms that came through Medford had a storm in the south part of the county that was moving from southwest to northeast, which meant Medford was not in the storm’s path. The second storm, which was near Hillsdale and moving toward Medford had its warning removed just before Shepherd was going to set the sirens off. The police chief said there is a judgment call that has to be made during each storm event. Shepherd said his ultimate concern is for the safety of all Medford residents. “Sometimes its safer not to set the storm sirens off so people stay indoors, than it is to try and get them to move if the storm is too close at that point.”

The police chief said himself and other officers receive training each year in severe weather spotting. Shepherd said folks need to have a severe weather plan in place when they know severe weather has been forecasted. Residents also expressed concern about whether or not local residents knew where each storm shelter is located. One resident said the new elementary school wing is a rated storm shelter, but she wondered if people knew it was available for use. The county also has a public storm shelter that local residents can use during severe weather events.

VOTE

Applicants will be notified in writing when their application has been processed. Approved voters will receive a Voter Identification Card in the mail. Some may receive a letter that explains the reason or reasons the application was not approved. Gonzales said those who do not receive a response within 30 days of submitting their application should contact the County Election Board office immediately. The Grant County Election Board reminds voters that applications must be approved by the County Election Board secretary in order to vote. Registered voters who have moved to Grant County from a different county or state will need to complete a new Voter Registration Application in order to be eligible for elections in Grant County. If you have moved within the county and need to update your address, you may make changes online using the OK Voter Portal at oklahoma.gov/elections/ovp or complete a Voter Registration Application. Voter Registration Applications can be downloaded from the State Election Board website at oklahoma.gov/elections. You may also complete a form at your County Election Board. Most post offices, tag agencies and public libraries have applications available upon request. The Grant County Election Board is located at 112 E. Guthrie St., Rm. 301A in Medford and is open from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., Monday through Friday. For questions, please contact the Election Board at (580) 395-2862.

Mostly About Nothing

By Cecil Hoar

It sure seems good to see our area getting lots of rain, which has been really scant for the past two years or so. Unfortunately, some of our wheat fields are not going to produce much grain as the recent light freeze has damaged the plants' heads and will not contain grain. It seems like "Ma Nature" has once again doused the hopes for a bumper crop that you would think the abundant moisture in the past three or so months has created. Fortunately, a good number of later sowed fields will not be damaged and might contain some really nice yields. Of course, these fields could get hit with bugs, smut, weeds or hail before the season ends. Something usually happens to people called "farmers." Speaking of seasons ends, our good buddies, Carmen Schultz with sister Liz Zaloudek (class of 61), cornered us while at Boondocks on Saturday and chewed us out for not mentioning the Aug. 3, big Panther and Bearcat reunion. Last year, we had a really successful and enjoyable time at the facility across from the bank. It will be there again, and as far as we know, Carmen and Sherry Schuermann are two big promoters. We imagine there are a bunch more alumni who will be getting involved as we move closer to the date. In our discussion, a really neat historical moment in the life of our two heroines and our school came. The two were members of the Jess and Marie Sidwell clan, which included nine kids. Jess and Marie came to Pond Creek from Texas in 1947 and their second daughter, Virginia, started and graduated here in 1957. Their last kid, Rosemary, graduated 30 years later in 1977. Folks, there was a "Sidwell" in Pond Creek's school system for 30 years. Carmen graduated in 1968. Eight of the nine, which excluded oldest daughter, Cinthia, probably saw their parents, Jess and Marie, finance a great deal of school lunch and workbook programs.

We had the pleasure of attending school with classmate, John, and his brother, Raymond, when we both hit the books (at least Ray did) at Oklahoma State in the late 1960s, and we know there are not many families so large that produced so many extraordinary citizens for America and the north-west part of Oklahoma's Grant County. Jess and Marie would be most proud.

Factual, Satirical, Humorous Comments From a Deranged Sooner Fan

By Jack LaFay

Cash Behind The Chaos: The University Campus Anarchy

The past several weeks our great nation witnessed disorder characterized by violent and needless disturbances on university campuses in the name of the Pro-Hamas/Palestinian Nationalism Movement.

One of the anti-American organizations fostering this mayhem goes by the name Students for Justice in Palestine and operates loosely under the National Students for Palestine umbrella.

There are approximately 350 SJP organizations nationwide. These organizations are called Gaza Solidarity Encampments by its members.

In the eyes of folks with common sense, these encampments train prospective agitators in the finer points of techniques utilized to create anarchy on college campuses and endanger Jewish students.

The SJP organizations accept financing and support from Ole'Joe's billionaire donors, and their liberal, left-wing foundations. The money train of SPL organizations doesn't stop at the borders of the USA and meanders across the world collecting Benjamins from countries who want to harm America.

It befits universities to ban this organization from the environment of higher institutions of learning. The SPJ's are not registered as non-profit organizations; therefore, they are not subject to financial disclosure where funds are obtained.

There are reasons to believe these organizations are soliciting funds through devious means. The Department of Justice has an obligation to investigate the internal financial apparatus of SPJ organizations, but does this transpire in an election year?

Multibillionaire Marxists find glory in financing incidents which vilify our great nation. The Dapper Delaware Dandy looks the other way regarding Anti-Israel/Pro-Hamas anarchists because he needs their support, and no action is the best action for his political well being. Ole'Joe cares only about himself and winning the 2024 election.

Has Our President Developed A Passion And Fondness For Hamas?

Ole'Joe visualizes pauses in weapon shipments to Israel because he questions their invasion tactics toward the city of Rafah, the last Hamas stronghold in the Gaza Strip. Secretary of Defense Lloyd Austin claims the USA has concerns over Israel's potential to utilize large bombs in Rafah causing massive destruction and death.

The Biden Brain Trust fails to point out these bombs are precision type weapons developed to reduce collateral damage and deaths. Ole'Joe and Mr. Lloyd orchestrated the greatest embarrassment in 21st century American military history aka "The Afghanistan Withdrawal," and now plot the game plan for Israel's do's and don'ts in the Hamas War.

It makes Boomer Sooner nervous that two leaders of democracy who left $7 billion dollars of military hardware in Afghanistan yearn planning future military operations of the Israeli military forces.

Ole'Joe and the Biden Brain Trust are giving Israel the one-finger salute and blowing kisses to the Muslims and pro-Hamas lovers in the USA with hopes and dreams of acquiring votes from this voting group.

With little effort the Biden Brain Trust can foul up relationships with our precious allies; furthermore, it appears Biden's best buds wake up every morning proudly proclaiming, "This is a great day to botch up relationships with one of our allies." Through their random acts of stupidity and pathetic common sense, the Biden Brain Trust has the dubious honor of facilitating an environment supportive of a civil war, revolution and world war all at the same time. This misconception, misunderstanding and incomprehension of the world environment takes a boundless amount of unawareness which is the strength of the Biden Brain Trust. Is Ole'Joe shunning Israel for the best interest of his political campaign or the best interest of our nation?

The Dapper Delaware Dandy should address the nation on national television during prime time viewing and demand the unconditional surrender of Hamas and its terrorist regime. The leader of the free world needs to make the right decision not a political decision.

Alvin Bragg's Sexology Sitcom AKA Donald Trump's Criminal Trial

iels strutted to the witness stand and delivered a tutorial on sex in the 21st century.

Boomer Sooner's cardiologist advised him not to watch or read about Stormy's testimony because of his earlier quadruple bypass surgery and the possibility of heart palpitations. Boomer Sooner is really jealous of the Orange Cowpoke because he watched Stormy's steamy testimony and took notes.

The doctor advised Boomer Sooner not to read the Orange Cowpoke's steaming, sultry and sexual notes because of possible catastrophic heart palpitations and stroke possibilities.

Ms. Stormy's sexual babble on the witness stand didn't have anything to do with the charges against Ole'Donald and her appearance as a witness centered around disparaging and vilifying former President Donald Trump.

Boomer Sooner believes District Attorney Alvin Bragg is trying to create a sitcom rivaling the Jerry Springer Show of the early 2000s.

The George Washington University Mess

George Washington University, located several blocks from the heartbeat of our nation's governing activities, became the epicenter of Hamas/Palestinian Nationalist agitators the past several weeks. The nitwit agitators vandalized the statue of George Washington and our flag, intimidated students with antisemitic images, destroyed property and shouted vile comments at university police. Various terrorist flags representing murder, mayhem, mutilation, torture and rape were visible throughout the encampment site of the agitators.

The dunderheaded, progressive Dems remained silent about the chaos and extolled the agitators actions as examples of first amendment rights in the purest form. The numbskull actions by the campus agitators were illegal and dangerous to the campus environment.

After two weeks of chaos, Democratic Mayor Muriel Bowser and her police chief decided to clear the knuckleheaded encampment because the encampment environment was becoming volatile and less stable.

Conclusion: Don't be in a fox-hole with a progressive Dem when the enemy comes over the hill because the muttonheads will run the other way.

The citizens of our great nation cannot condone the disgraceful and shameful actions of a handful of numbskulls claiming the titles of representatives or senators whose greatest accomplishment in their political life centered around spelling USA correctly after three attempts.

Boomer Sooner does not have a lot of love for the progressive Dems wasting taxpayer funds in Washington D.C.

Great News

It appears the Dapper Delaware Dandy consented allowing Israeli military forces the usage of paintball guns when they attack Rafah – the last Hamas stronghold. This demonstrates outstanding presidential leadership. Israel's fighting for survival and Ole'Joe's fighting for votes.

Have a great week Grant County.

We the People

By Tom Horn

Another Kentucky Derby is in the books.

The three-horse photo finish just about guarantees another dry year for a Triple Crown winner. You'll know in a few days after the Preakness Stakes on Saturday.

President Trump held a record-setting rally (over 80,000) this past Saturday in of all places New Jersey, one of the bluest states in the country. Trump, who normally doesn't waste time on deep blue states like New Jersey said he is expanding his campaign to include New Jersey.

The massive crowd went wild for him. Trump said Biden is so bad he may just take all 50 states.

Meanwhile at Trump's joke Stormy Daniels trial, where the judge is trying to silence him with an unconstitutional gag order, Trump continues to violate it, telling the press daily what scumbags he's dealing with, and paying the $1,000 fine.

The judge recently fined him for violating the gag order back in April after the trial had begun but before the judge had placed the gag order.

The Boy Scouts recently succumbed to the DIE crowd, forced to include girls and transvestites into their ranks, having to change their name to Scouting America. I have no doubt boy perverts will soon be infecting the Girl Scouts.

The list of state attorneys general who are suing the Biden administration for raping Title IX is growing. The current list includes: Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, Iowa, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Alabama, Louisiana, and Kentucky.

You know, I almost feel sorry for Speaker Johnson. He is just so pitiful. The one good thing McCarthy did while he was speaker was add two rules to the House.

The Democrats are notorious for rolling out bills thousands of pages long with only several hours to look at them before a vote is called and forbidding any amendments to it. McCarthy placed a minimum 72 hours to read the bill before it could be called up for a vote and added that amendments would be allowed.

Well, of course, the Democrats didn't like that, so Speaker Johnson suspended those rules. Then Biden, who Johnson thinks is his friend, made a deal with the speaker. If you will bring a foreign aid bill, giving gobs of money to his friends in Ukraine, he would also put in a little aid in there for Johnson's friends in Israel. Taking his friend, Joe at his word, he did as he was told. The bill passed, Ukraine got their money, then at the last minute ole'Joe pulled the aid to Israel. I guess telling naive Johnson, "Hah, I tricked ya."

I guess not all Democrats are antisemitic because a bunch of them are jumping on Biden's case for betraying our closest ally.

Something the congregation of my church has been anticipating happened this last week. The United Methodist Church Legislative Assembly overwhelmingly overturned a measure banning LGBTQ church members from being ordained as clergy and leaders in the denomination. The move passed without debate.

The movement for this, in the large coastal churches, has been so strong it has caused a large percentage of Methodist churches in the heartland, especially Oklahoma and Texas, to disaffiliate in anticipation of it, including our Medford church.

During the news story on this, a woman wearing the collar of a pastor or whatever defended the move, saying the Word of God is

"evolving."

I think that's what they said in Sodom.

I'm going to end this with an observation. Biden has become so feeble he can't even read a teleprompter anymore. He has to be showed where to walk and can barely navigate. His handlers are mostly keeping him out of sight and under wraps.

Compare that to the recent 80,000-person Trump rally held in Biden's backyard, and you'll have to agree, if Biden wins reelection, the DCS (Democrat Crime Syndicate) will be the most powerful criminal organization the world has ever seen, and most certainly mean the end of this country as we know it.

Just my two cents.

FORUM

well as creating and implementing policies and procedures.

“I’ve had the honor of serving many of you and others in Grant County when I worked at Farm Bureau,” she said.

One of the important aspects of being an elected official is to be present and transparent, according to McCaleb.

“(The) county clerk is not just a job, but a duty that is entrusted to us by the people of our county,” she said. “I will be dedicated to working for you, our community and our county employees in a professional and organized manner.”

Incumbent County Clerk

Cindy Pratt was the final candidate to address the crowd.

The Medford High School graduate said she was raised to stand up for what is right. That life philosophy has led to a number of confrontations, but Pratt said she stands by her willingness to do what is right for the county and its residents.

“I’ve worked very hard for this county,” she said. “I’ve worked hard to protect the public funds.”

She said most residents don’t know how much work is involved in carry out the duties within the county clerk’s office.

Pratt said she was not saying that everything she has done has been right during her tenure, but she’s always looking out for the county.

A local resident contacted the Medford Patriot-Star following the forum and said they were concerned with Pratt not being completely truthful with local residents.

The caller said Pratt had not finished state mandated training, and had in fact been lax with public funds, including not paying a recent credit card bill, which cost the county $250 in late fees. They were also concerned with a lack of her presence in the office.

“First I want to address my lack of presence. I am in my office more than most other elected officials are in their offices,” Pratt said via email on Monday. “I work not only from the office but from home at times but usually not during business hours. Mostly at night and on the weekends.

“I have verified with our core system provider of the security of me working from home and they said there is not an issue as they have strict protocols in place. The reason I work from home is because it is hard to get work done without getting interrupted. If you come to the courthouse on most Fridays, I will probably be the only elected official in the office. I have not taken more than a few days off at a time, and I can’t even recall the last time I took a full week off from work.”

Pratt did say she lacks a couple of classes, “but there is no time frame requirement for this and I will be scheduled to take this training once the new schedule is available from OSU CTP which will be sometime in June. Therefore prior to the end of my term I will have all required classes completed.”

Pratt also acknowledged the missed credit card payment. She said it was due to two individuals who recently left the clerk’s office with “17 years of experience.” These departures have led to new hires and new employees having to be trained.

“I have been working with the new hires in my office and we are all aware of the process at this time,” she said in her email. “My office is working to see about getting some fees taken off. The fees have not been paid, and I was instructed by BOA not to pay at this time as credit could potentially be made to resolve this matter.”

Pratt said she has also saved the county money in the past and is currently working on an issue with OTC to recover funds that would exceed $20,000.

“I am sure that person did not mention that I recovered over $8,000 from AT&T for overpayment by the previous clerk,” Pratt said. “I work extremely hard for Grant County, and I know there is always going to be someone who thinks they can do a better job.

“I challenge anyone who wants to shadow me for a week and then they could understand a little more about the numerous duties assigned to the County Clerk’s Office.”

The election will be held in Grant County on Tuesday, June 18.

Russian Freeze, USDA Reports Support Grain Bulls

Happy Mother’s Day weekend market watchers. We honor and thank all the mothers out there for raising us right and putting up with us through the years. We are truly grateful for your love, kindness and patience.

Speaking of the need for patience, it has been difficult to be so with continued short covering in the grain markets from volatile weather patterns that seem to be gaining more attention from the markets. Freeze concerns for winter wheat in Russia have brought fresh bullish news back to the wheat complex. USDA’s monthly WASDE and Crop Production reports released Friday also added supportive news for the wheat markets.

US wheat ending stocks for 2023/24 came in at 688 million bushels, lower than previous and lower than average trade expectations of 695 million bushels. Wheat ending stocks for the coming marketing year also came in slightly below previous estimates (766 vs. 769 million bushels), but well below average trade guesses that were actually expecting an increase to 777 million bushels. US wheat production for this year was pegged at 1.858 billion bushels, down 30 million bushels from average trade guesses, but still 46 million bushels above last year.

Hard red winter wheat production (traded as the KC wheat futures), which represents over 55 percent of all winter wheat output, was increased 10 million bushels to 705 million bushels while soft red winter (traded as the Chicago wheat futures) production declined to 344 million bushels from last year’s 449 million bushels and average trade guesses of 404 million bushels. Some felt these expectations were quite high to begin with as a 60 million bushel decline between USDA and average trade guesses is quite a swing. July Chicago wheat futures, now the front-month, made new daily highs on Friday at $6.65 ¼, after an inside day on Thursday, which suggests more upside follow-through on Monday.

The KC wheat contract traded to a high of $6.76 ¼ on Friday, putting in a fresh session high right near the close before closing 3-cents off these highs at $6.73 ¼. While this was up solidly on the day, it failed to make a high above the May 6 high at $6.79. Short covering continues by managed money, but I’m getting concerned that the wheat market could be getting ahead of itself, especially the KC contract.

Rains are forecast over the weekend into next week in Kansas and Oklahoma. Recent cooler and wetter weather conditions have been excellent for filling of wheat kernels, but will do little to increase bushels other than through test weight. If conditions can remain on the wetter and cooler side for a couple more weeks, we could see a better-than-expected finish to this year’s crop in areas.

However, there remain large areas where it is too little, too late with rainfall spotty and wheat conditions poor from heat and drought especially given crop maturity is well ahead of average. Last Monday’s winter wheat conditions update saw a slight, one percent improvement in Good-to-Excellent ratings at 50 percent versus 49 percent last week and expected by traders.

Oklahoma saw a 6 percent jump in G/E ratings to 52 percent while Kansas increased only one percent G/E, Nebraska up 4 percent while Colorado was down one percent from the week prior. Alternatively, soft red winter wheat areas saw declines in weekly condition ratings. Spring wheat planting is nearly half complete and remains well ahead of schedule.

Globally, wheat ending stocks were lowered slightly for this past year with 2024/25 wheat ending stocks coming in 2.8 million metric tons below trade expectations and 4.2 million metric tons below last year. That is a decent adjustment for global stock levels although wheat export availability was only reduced by 1.0 million metric tons from last year. Russian wheat crop estimates have been reduced to 88.0 million metric tons from last year’s 91.5 million metric tons as has confidence in export pace due to disruptions in grain export companies, but only 1.5 million metric tons lower.

Stats Can released quarterly grain stocks for Canada on Tuesday trimming wheat stocks to 11.756 million metric tons from trade estimates at 12.2 million metric tons and last year’s 13.901 million metric tons. Other grain stocks also came in lower than expected. Shifting to row crops, the bulls favored corn while the bears positioned for soybeans.

US corn ending stocks for this past year and the coming year both came in 100 million bushels below previous USDA estimates as well as 68 million bushels below trade guesses. New crop was a whopping 430 million bushels below USDA’s February Outlook Forum estimates and 185 million bushels short of average trade guesses. This was driven partly by a reduction in production as well as increase in last year’s demand and we’re expecting more upward revisions of demand in the new crop numbers from where they now stand.

The USDA now sees US corn crop production at 14.860 billion bushels, slightly lower than the average trade guesses of 14.867 billion bushels, but well below the February Outlook Forum forecasts above 15 billion bushels. Average yield is seen at 181.0 bushels per acre. Global corn ending stocks were also trimmed 5.0 million metric tons while new crop came in 5.1 million metric tons below trade guesses.

Despite announcements out of China for larger corn production and expectations of lower imports, the USDA holds PRC corn imports at 23.0 million metric tons. Brazil corn production was revised lower by only 200,000 metric tons while Argentine production was increased by 1.0 million metric tons, which was a surprise given leaf hopper issues there.

Soybeans ending stocks in the US were higher for both old and new crop. While US soybean yield was increased just slightly to 52.0 bpa, total production was revised just 3.0 million bushels versus trade guesses and 55.0 million bushels below the Outlook Forum. Brazil soybean production was reduced 1.0 million metric tons from last month, but came in 1.8 million metric tons higher than average trade guesses. Argentine soybean production was unchanged from last month. China imports were also unchanged at 105.0 million metric tons.

US corn and soybean planting continues progressing, but at a slower pace due to rain delays. Both US corn and soybean plantings came in 3 percent behind expectations this past week. There are scattered showers over the weekend, but I would expect progress to catch up quickly.

However, this also supported these markets, especially corn, in the past week. Higher priced corn markets creates headwinds for the cattle complex. We saw that this week with damage done on feeder and fed cattle charts. Feeder cattle dropped to the lowest level since mid-April while fed cattle contracts traded down to the 20-day moving average, but managed to hold around that level as cash trade developed towards the end of the week. The highest cash trades of the week traded $187 in Nebraska while Kansas topped out at $185. These are decent levels and trading well above the futures.

Demand this time of year usually peaks around Memorial Day and we’re expecting that timeframe to be reached soon. With rising debt levels and interest rates, consumer confidence fell in April dropped to the lowest level in nearly two years. Next week’s inflation reports will be critical in painting the picture of the Fed’s next move, which is far from certain. The equity market however has continued to shake off any major concern of a slowing economy with the Dow Jones extending an 8-day winning streak after the recent selloff. We’re now back to early April levels and look to be heading higher. This could help support the cattle complex heading into the summer grilling season and I believe we will see some recovery in cattle in the week ahead.

Despite further weakness in Friday’s trading, the feeder and fed cattle futures contracts managed a strong recovery off those lows leading into the close. If you’ve sold physical cattle here and/or have an LRP soon to expire, I think this is an area to reown a long position in the market to protect that upside gap.

Sidwell Strategies is the one-stop shop to protect cattle with futures, puts, LRP or a combination of all, which is probably the best strategy overall.
